STORM ON MOLOKAI.

The steamer Jas. I. Dowsett brings news of a severe blow at Molokai last Saturday night. At ten o'clock the wind came with a sudden blast from the northeast, and it lasted for an hour. The damage done is extensive. The church at Kalaupapa, which was dedicated by Dr. Hyde two days before the storm, was bodily lifted from its foundation and so wrecked as to make it unsafe, and it is deemed prudent to have it pulled down. Large kukui trees two or more feet in diameter and cypress trees of huge dimensions were up-rooted and laid down, or the trunks were snapped like pipe stems. At Wailau, on the steep incline of a mountain side which was thickly covered with trees of various sizes, was a scene of utter ruin. Every tree was blown down, and it looked as if an army of wood cutters had been there, or the place had been swept by fire. At Mr. Meyer's place there was great devasta-tion of trees. Mr. Meyer says he thinks the gale was local. It lasted only an hour, but it was the most severe that he had known since his residence on the Islands, about 40 years. People who lived where the wind was the strongest were greatly frightened, and they say it was fortunate that no vessel was there at the time, as it would have been totally destroyed.

A man who gets the mitten is apt to be guilty of contempt of court.

It is doubtful if there was a time when it didn't cost a pot of money to "start a newspaper" in a field already occupied. Sixty years ago, John Murray, the London publisher, sunk $100,000 on a newspaper called the Representative, which was to rival the London Times. It lived only six months at that. If the whole truth were known it would probably be found that Job's poverty was really caused by his acquiring a fortune and then investing it in a newspaper business .- Detroit Free
